The Team Meetings[™] Profile

ACHIEVE UNCOMMON RESULTS ON COMMON GROUND.[™]

The Team Meetings Profile[™] was designed to provide your team with unique insight on how well they are managing meeting together. Meetings are the playing field for high performance teams. Effective or not, meetings cost money and consume valuable resources. The real issue is not the cost of meetings, but rather the cost of poor meetings. High performance teams master the three critical dimensions needed for effective meetings: the people, the purpose, and the process. This diagnostic allows your team to graphically identify strengths and weaknesses across each of these three key components.

Meetings - The Playground of High Performance Teams

Talk to ten different people in any organization and you are likely to get ten different perspectives on the merit of organizational meetings, ranging from excitement to dread. People are always meeting; it's the way we get things done. We meet informaly around the water cooley, we chat over breakfast or lunch, and we exchange emails. These are, in the broadest sense of the word, meetings.

As much as we sometimes would like to avoid meetings, the fact is that meetings are a part of our jobs. Meetings are the playground of high performance teams. They test the mettle of purpose and consistency. In meetings, the true character and competence of a team is revealed.

Since you have been involved with meetings all your lives, you may be tempted to think that an assessment and discussion about your team meetings is just one more meeting that wastes time. You may be surprised, however, to discover that effective meetings actually require a lot of work, both from you and from your fellow teammates It's important to be sure you are a part of the solution for your team versus part of the problem. The purpose of this Team Resources® diagnostic is to provide you with focused insight into specific ways in which you can make your meetings more productive.

MEETING EFFECTIVENESS FOR HIGH PERFORMANCE TEAMS

As we have studied and researched teams and team the years, we have found consistently similar gualities and characteristics in teams that achieve exceptional results. This list of characteristics has proven to be of immeasurable value as we have worked with clients to establish new teams or to intervene when a team's effort was less than effective. It's a short list; in fact, it contains only six characteristics. But each characteristic plays a specific and vital role in making the team effective and, therefore, it is worth a closer look. If one of these six characteristics is missing or inadequate, the team is, at best, limping. If two or three are lacking, this group is probably not a team at all.

Effective meetings are grounded in both Effective Processes and Effective Communication - the fourth and sixth characteristics of high performance teams. Communication is critical to managing meetings effectively, and many tested techniques managing meetings are process-driven. Teams that put such processes in place and follow them skillfully have a much greater chance of leveraging both formal and informal meetings as opportunities to drive results
